Social Hour at 5 P.M., Dinner at 6 P.M.

Our Speaker: Bruce Merritt

His Subject: The Founding of the Society of Colonial Wars in Los Angeles in 1895

The Founders of the Society of Colonial Wars in Los Angeles were a group of notable individuals in early Los Angeles. Most were prominent individuals. These included two Mayors, a US Senator, a major banker and more!

Bruce Gordon Merritt is a retired trial lawyer with a passion for history. Born in Iowa City, Iowa, he grew up in Southern California and attended Occidental College, where he majored in history. Intent on a career as a historian, he was admitted to a doctoral program in American History at Harvard. His studies, however, were interrupted by the draft and by the time he returned to civilian life, he had decided upon a career in the law. He attended Harvard Law School, graduating magna cum laude in 1972. Following a clerkship with a law firm in London, he began that practice of law in Los Angeles. In the 1980s he served as an Assistant U.S. Attorney and handled several high profile criminal cases, including the successful prosecution of the president and general counsel of CalAm Corporation, once the nation's largest tax shelter promoter, and the case of Nikolai and Svetlana Ogorodnikov, who were convicted of recruiting FBI agent Richard Miller for Soviet intelligence. Following his time as a federal prosecutor, he joined the law firm of Debevoise & Plimpton as a litigation partner, first in Los Angeles and later in New York. In 1992, he was elected a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers.

Since his retirement from the law, Bruce has pursued his passion for historical research. He has published articles in both the Journal of American History, and the Southern California Quarterly. Bruce has also authored a book, St. Mark's Journey, on the history of a pioneer church in Glendale, CA.
